Negro Home In Atlanta Bombed

Family Moved Into All-White Section

By The Associated Press
A dynamite bomb was ignited Wednesday night in a home recently acquired by a Negro family in a formerly all-white neighborhood of Atlanta.

The Negro family was not at home at the time of the bombing. Neighbors said the family had moved in Tuesday night. Damage was light and no injuries were reported.

Neighbors said a group of white youths had pelted the house with rocks Tuesday night. The Negro owner came to the front door, poked a shotgun out and threatened to kill his tormentors if they didn't quit, the neighbors said.

A detective, Capt. R. E. Little, said he didn't think "whoever did this (bombing) tried to destroy the house. I think they just wanted to scare somebody."

In Miami, Fla., Negroes demanding integrated lunch counter service scheduled a meeting today to discuss whether to continue sit-down demonstrations or confer with city officials first.

Such a conference was proposed Wednesday by city officials. Mayor Robert King High said the Miami Bi-Racial Committee has agreed to discuss the possibility.

'Penniless' Man Leaves Huge Estate

CHICAGO (AP) — A 78-year-old German-born man who was believed nearly penniless when he died last month left a fortune of more than $365,000, an inventory disclosed Wednesday.

Max Roeder, who lived in a $4 a week room and whose assets at his death were believed to be $120 and the clothes he was wearing, was fatally injured on March 9 when he fell in an elevator shaft in a Loop building.

Thomas J. Downs, public administrator, took charge of Roeder's estate after his death.

He said an inventory of the contents of a safe deposit box Roeder kept in the Cosmopolitan National Bank included $266,000 in stocks, $40,450 in cash, $53,650 in bank deposits, $5,000 in matured government savings bonds, several articles of jewelry, 335 shares of stock not currently quoted and two parcels of real estate.

Roeder left no known heirs, Downs said, but he is checking a report there may be a sister living in Switzerland. In the event no heirs are found, it was believed the estate will go to Cook County.

Leetonia Teachers Get Salary Boost

LEETONIA — Salary increases up to $200 were approved in a new teachers salary schedule presented to the Board of Education Wednesday night.

The schedule for 1960-61 sets a beginning salary of $4,100 for teachers with a bachelor of arts degree, with a maximum salary of $5,100 apportioned according to years of experience.

Minimum and maximum salaries for teachers with four to five years training are $4,200, to $5,300; master's degree, $4,300 to $5,650; and doctors' degree, $4,500 to $6,150.

Board members voted to continue school operations on Eastern Standard Time throughout the year. After much discussion, it was decided that this move would be in the best interest of the children.

The 1960-61 school calendar was accepted by the board. Classes will commence Sept. 8, with the end of the school term scheduled for June 8.

Mrs. JoAnn Ferry was appointed as enumerator for the school census. Members of the Parent-Teacher Association will assist with this project.

George Trombitas and Ronald Todd were named to serve as driver training instructors during the summer.

Detmar Weikart and Carl Vineyard have resigned as school bus drivers because of their other employment. Vernon Walters and Roland Hall are serving as drivers. Mr. Hall recently completed his test for school bus driving.

It was announced that the Student Council at Orchard Hill School

The youths admitted the burglary. They stole lunch meat, cigarettes, orange drink, bread, a flash light and other items. The youths were in a car owned by Payton when they were picked up.

Anticholesterol Find Reported

Method Aids Animals To Handle Fat Diets

CHICAGO (AP) — A researcher seeking a new approach to combat heart attacks presented a method today that increases an animal's ability to handle diets excessively high in fats and cholesterol.

Control of fat metabolism is of tremendous importance to medical science because many investigators believe that heart artery disease stems from the inability of some human systems to properly digest and utilize animal fats and cholesterol.

The new procedure, involving an injection of an extract of common yeast into the veins of an experimental animal, was presented by Dr. N. R. Diluzio, associate professor of physiology at the University of Tennessee medical units.

Cholesterol, a fatty substance implicated in hardening of the arteries, normally is removed from the body by the liver. The liver also is the major site of fat metabolism. The particular liver cells which accomplish these tasks have not yet been defined.

Dr. Diluzio told the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology that the yeast extract stimulated one particular type of cells known as the RE cells.

The system involved is the reticulo-endothelial, a group of cells which serve various functions including defending the body against infection.

These RE cells are found especially in the liver but also in the spleen, lungs, lymph nodes, bone marrow and other body organs.

The injection, he said, stimulated a sharp increase in RE cell number, size and function. Other

Young Blocking 32 Postmaster Nominations

Salem, Minerva Jobs Affected; Aspirants Are Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's candidates for postmaster jobs in up to 32 Ohio cities and towns are being blocked by Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio). Young let this be known today. He said it is possible he may change his mind about a few of the nominations. But most of them appear to be out of luck.

They are permanently out of luck if a Democrat wins the presidency this fall. All are Republicans, and a Democrat in the White House probably would replace them with Democrats.

Can Block Any Nomination
Young can block any Ohio postmaster nomination he wishes. The Senate won't confirm a nominee who lacks approval from both of his state's senators.

Young's colleague, Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio), has approved all of the President's Ohio postmaster nominations, even though he has received complaints about some of them from Democrats.

Postmaster appointments for Toledo, Dayton, Fremont, Painesville, Salem, Portsmouth and Urbana are among those being held up by Young.

Of those, Young said he has just about definitely decided to block the candidate in Fremont (Raymond E. Sprunk) and definitely those in Toledo (Gordon R. Lauer) and Portsmouth (Leo C. Blackburn).

Still Being Probed
Some of the others, he said, still are under investigation.

Asked why he was withholding recommendations, Young replied that he does this when so requested by a Democratic congressman from the district concerned or when he considers the appointment "political."

Young has not by any means blocked all Ohio postmaster nominations by President Eisenhower. He approved 31 of them last year and 10 more this year, including the job at Youngstown.

For all this, Young said, there is ample precedent. He said the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, a Republican, blocked 81 Ohio postmaster nominations by President Truman. All, he said, were replaced with Republicans by Eisenhower.

Statesman-Like Screening
"When Taft did that, some Republican newspaper called it 'statesman-like screening,'" Young said.

"Well, I'm indulging in statesmanlike screening, too."

"I'm not playing politics. In the first place I'm not giving a thought to running for reelection."

"If I were, my record would get the support of Democrats, but I couldn't get reelected without some support from independents and Republicans."

Here is a box score on Young's decisions this year on Eisenhower's Ohio postmaster nominations: Approved (practically assuaging Senate confirmation this year): Brinkhaver, Harriet R. Vashinder; Brunswick, Charles A. Roemer; Kinsman, Irvan E. Scott; Montpelier, Warren J. Gardner; New Bloomington, Marguerite E. Uhl; Salineville, Clarence J. Loch; South Charleston, Robert L. Rhodes; Sullivan, Vernon J. Burkett Jr.; West Chester, Edna M. Montanye; Youngstown, Chester W. Bailey.

Pending Investigation
Pending (investigation not started): Ashley, Frank P. Jackson Jr.; Hudson, Ronald R. Rose; Lynchburg, Roger A. Barker; New Philadelphia, Matthew E. Gibson; Philadelphia, Donald E. Hurless; Pedro, Donna L. Griffith.

Not recommended (in most cases blocked): Antwerp, Edward E.

Good Friday Service Will Begin At 12:30

A union Good Friday service, sponsored by the Salem Ministerial Association, will be held from 12:30 to 1:45 p.m. tomorrow at the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. Bruce Milligan, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, will speak.

The worship is a climax to the nighttime Holy Week services, held at the Presbyterian Church. "The Death of Christ was Supernatural" was the theme of the talk yesterday by the Rev. H. B. Winn, pastor of the First Friends Church.

He pointed out that "Christ's death was different from all other deaths. In His birth, His life and in His death He was different and pre-eminent. A careful study reveals,

Family Ready To Pay Ransom

French Automaker Awaits Instructions

PARIS (AP)—Automaker Jean Pierre Peugeot and his family stood ready today to pay $100,000 ransom for the safe return of the magnate's kidnapped grandson.

Police agreed to steer clear of any direct negotiations the family might arrange with the abductors of 4½-year-old Eric Peugeot, snatched from a playground sandbox Tuesday afternoon.

Every policeman in France was alerted to watch for the child with the blond crew cut, the lanky, dark-haired young man who grabbed him, and another man who drove them away in a Peugeot-made car.

Associates of the family said there had been no contact with the abductors since two enigmatic phone calls the night after the kidnapping.

The ransom note dropped by the kidnaper as he fled with the boy told the family instructions would be forthcoming in 48 hours. The 48 hours end at 5 p. m. (11 a. m. EST).

The first telephone call came about six hours after the kidnapping. The caller asked for Eric's father, then hung up. An hour later, a second call asked if the ransom letter had been found. When told the note was in hand, the caller again hung up.

The distraught father, Roland Peugeot, appealed for the boy's return in a nationwide telecast Wednesday night.

Two Cars Damaged In Rt. 30 Collision

Two cars were slightly damaged in a collision on Rt. 30, a mile south of Lisbon, Wednesday at 9:40 p.m.

State patrolmen at the Lisbon Post said the collision occurred when a car driven by Clifford S. Balser, 51, of Chester, W. Va., slowed down and was struck in the rear by a car driven by William R. Neppi, 33, of East Liverpool.

Neppi was charged by the Patrol with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

FBI Sees No Humor In Bomb Jokes

Taking Air Trip? Don't Jest About Explosives

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Zip wanski, 33, Huntingdon Valley, Pa., on a false bomb report charge was the fifth such arrest in eight days.

Radwanski allegedly replied to a "your bag is heavy" comment by a Trans World Airlines employee at Port Columbus Airport with the remark, "There's a bomb in it."

Then he found himself in FBI custody. By shortly after midnight he had been brought before U.S. Commissioner Robert W. Newlon for a hearing.

Radwanski was released on $1,000 bond, reported E. D. Mason, FBI special agent stationed at Cincinnati who related the incident. Radwanski, a sales engineer for a Philadelphia construction firm, is to appear in U.S. District Court next Wednesday.

TWA flight 300 from Columbus to Pittsburgh was delayed 32 minutes while officials searched for the bomb. None was found.

Earlier Wednesday in San Francisco a neon tube bender was charged with the same offense. The U.S. attorney's office filed the charge against William A. Grant of Belmont, Calif.

A United Air Lines spokesman said Grant was trying to take out insurance on his wife after seeing her aboard a Los Angeles-bound DCB jet when he made his remark. Told Mrs. Grant would have to sign any insurance forms, Grant allegedly said, "Well, I guess the bomb won't do any good then."

Pre-Summit Confabs Enter Final Session

British Would Seek Soviet Agreement To Code of Ethics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western pre-summit talks headed into a final session today with top U.S. officials reported cool toward a French plan for East-West control against arms shipments to newly developing countries.

Among other things, they fear such big-power control might give the appearance of dictatorship toward the smaller nations.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was also said to be lukewarm to a British proposal for seeking Soviet agreement to an international code of ethics. The United Nations already has such a code. But he was more favorably disposed toward stepping up cultural and information exchanges with the Soviet Union.

Ideas Up For Scrutiny
These and a handful of other ideas were up for possible scrutiny under the catchall "East-West" relations agenda slated for the wind-up meeting of the three-day foreign ministers conference.

Herter, Britain's Selwyn Lloyd and France's Maurice Couve de Murville are charting strategy for their government heads to use at the summit parley with the Soviet Union starting in Paris May 16.

Wednesday the foreign ministers held separate meetings on two major cold war disputes headed for summit discussion—Germany-Berlin and disarmament — and speedily came to "complete agreement."

Basically, they drafted no new proposal but reaffirmed fundamental positions previously taken by the West on these issues.

On Germany and Berlin, they agreed to seek a temporary solution of the Berlin problem provided

It has been used extensively in Russia and other European countries, however.

Dr. Albert W. Sabin of the University of Cincinnati. Unlike the Salk vaccine it is taken orally rather than by injection.

The mass immunization will be a joint project of the Cincinnati Board of Health and the Academy of Medicine of Cincinnati.

Through a grant from the National Foundation, Dr. Sabin will furnish the vaccine and the Board of Health will furnish 1,000 gallons of cherry syrup in which the vaccine is given.

The decision to undertake the project came after the Academy of Medicine had given its approval and obtained agreements from approximately 300 physicians to participate.

The vaccine still has not been approved for licensing by the federal health authorities but it has not been disapproved when given under the supervision of "qualified investigators."

The live virus vaccine provides a different type of immunity from the Salk vaccine. The Salk vaccine protects the individual while the live virus type protects the individual and also is supposed to prevent him from infecting others with virulent polio.

The vaccine will be administered over a three-month period. Type I will be given during the week of April 25; Type III during the week of May 22 and Type I during the week of June 20.

Grenade Explosion Fatal to 2nd Child

Minister Again Will Refuse to Pay Taxes

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Rev. Maurice McCrackin, Cincinnati's pacifist minister, has served notice he again does not intend to file an income tax return or pay any taxes.

He also expressed the "sincere hope and earnest prayer" that other Americans would join him in his protest.

The minister long has refused to pay income taxes because part of the money goes for defense purposes and he contends war is a sin. Last year he served approximately six months in a federal prison because he refused to heed an Internal Revenue Service summons to come in and talk over his tax situation.

McCrackin Wednesday sent letters to newspapers and the Internal Revenue Service announcing he would not pay again this year.

Philip L. Charles, IRS district director, said, "If he's not going to file or pay we'll take the usual steps that we would take against any citizen."

MAN FATALLY STABBED

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Joseph G. Gerstner, 86, of Botkins (Shelby County) was fatally stabbed Wednesday night in an argument with another patient at a rest home where they lived. Police are holding Edward M. Norton, 79, of Springfield. They said he readily admitted the stabbing. Norton told police Gerstner had been bothering him. Attendants said both men had bad tempers and often argued. Norton was placed under guard at the Mercycrest Home for the Aged, where the incident occurred.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Respiratory Ailments Require Survey

Obviously the first thing to be done by the victim of any respiratory disorder is to avoid further insult to the breathing apparatus.

This may mean discontinuance of the use of tobacco, removal to a lower altitude, avoidance of localities where smog is known to accumulate, retirement from work that involves further exposure to the inhalation of dust particles or irritant fumes, masking during unavoidable exposure to inhalation of irritants and transfer from a heavy job to one of a sedentary nature if respiratory income has been reduced by emphysema or some other type of permanent lung damage.

IF THESE preventive measures fail to give relief, a complete examination by a highly skilled physician is next in order.

Just as you'd expect a mechanic looking for motor trouble, to do more than simply lift the hood of your car so you must be prepared for your chosen doctor to supplement his physical examination with tests of blood and sputum, X-ray films and maybe a direct look down your bronchi by a specialist trained in the technique of this delicate procedure.

AND DON'T, I beg of you, complain of the probable expense of this survey. You'd pay just as much for an overhaul of your car, and, in the long run, you'll effect a saving even if you do nothing more than stop further purchases of harmful smokes and useless proprietary medicines.

"Okeydoke," you say, "I'll go along with this survey if you'll guarantee it'll turn up something that will prove helpful to me."

"Sorry," I have to answer. "You'll get no such guarantee from me or any other reputable physician."

"BUT I WILL give you an idea of what you may get from your investment."

1. "If your trouble is of an infectious nature, even a tuberculosis, you've an excellent chance to be cured by the use of drugs alone."

2. "If your trouble is mechanical, like the blockage of a bronchus or drainage from a cavity whose walls can't be brought together, you may get a wonderful result from skilled surgery."

3. "If you have a tumor, it may be removed through a bronchoscopy or by open operation."

4. "If you've an allergic asthma, it may be possible to identify what you're sensitive to and, if your nose or sinuses, rid you of the spark that starts the fire."

5. "Or, if the offending allergen can't be found and eliminated, you'll be given drugs you can use the very instant you feel an attack coming on."

6. "If your breathlessness and cough are due to some weakness of your heart or to an anemia, treatment will be directed to the source of your troubles."

7. "And if the cause of your discomforts is something that can't be treated directly, like emphysema or deposits of soot in your lungs, you'll be taught breathing exercises that should do a lot to add to your comfort."

Finally, if you're one of the unfortunate that draws a blank, you will at least have the satisfaction of knowing where you stand and of the need to make what adjustments are necessary so you can "endure what can't be cured."

Richard Nixon on Birth Control

Vice President Nixon deserves some commendation for taking a stand on supplying information about birth control to foreign countries that ask for it.

Not only has he declared himself on a subject he might have preferred to duck. He has, by the nature of his stand, contributed to clearing up what the issue is.

When the subject made the headlines a couple of months ago, an all-important distinction got lost in the heat of controversy. It is the difference between an aggressive campaign to promote birth control in other lands and a mere agreement to share with other lands, at their request, what our medical and public health professionals know about birth control.

NO ONE EVER has proposed the former. It would be morally and politically reprehensible if anyone did. Experts have expressed concern about the rising population of this country, but no government — federal, state or local — attempts to promote birth control as a solution. The decision to investigate the possibility is left to the individual and his personal thoughts on the matter.

This is precisely the same policy Vice President Nixon has said he would adopt if he were in the White House when the question came up. He would not interfere in the internal affairs of another government by offering information about birth control, he said.

But, he added, "if they reach a decision that they want to limit population growth at a certain point and come to us for assistance, we should give it to them. For us to say that we would not help them to combat misery and ill health would not be a good policy."

WHILE WE CANNOT guess what Sen. Kennedy's decision would be in a similar situation, the statement he has made could possibly be close to Mr. Nixon's. The senator simply stated that he would act according to the best interests of the United States. It is not conceivable that, in a particular situation, he would feel the best interests of the United States would be best served by granting such a request.

Mr. Nixon's statement on birth control takes a different tack from President Eisenhower's, which was that the United States would not take any part in the distribution of information on the subject.

But the President made his statement at a press conference during the heat of the earlier controversy. It could be that he also had fallen victim to the confusion over the real issue of whether the information was requested or unsolicited.

If he was aware of the difference, then Mr. Nixon should be complimented for stepping out on his own. His policy is the wiser one.

The High Cost of Campaigning

An estimated price tag of 35 million dollars has been put on this year's presidential election campaign. This is the total of what both parties and all the candidates are expected to spend in the next seven months in their efforts to wake up victorious on Nov. 9.

Like the Georgia woman who gained fame a couple of years ago for her three-way personality split, this prediction of campaign spending has three facets.

First, there is the humorous side. The big price tag can be viewed as the reason so many millionaires are running for president these days — and being welcomed by the political parties. There is the amusing incongruity of spending 35 million dollars to tell the voters what is wrong with the nation's economy. There is the lighthearted thought that if anything is wrong with the economy, the "pump-priming" effect of a 35-million-dollar campaign could set things aright in such industries as transportation, printing and mass communications.

Second, there is the logical side. Life is just not the same as when William McKinley conducted presidential campaigns from his front porch in Canton, Ohio. And inflation has hit the campaigners as it has hit everyone else.

Third, there is the serious side.

THE MAN in the street often shakes his head in disgust at the money spent on political campaigns. His attitude tends to drive party financiers into secrecy with their fundraising strategies and their books, which in turn arouses further suspicion about the campaign war chests.

But one of the reasons for the increasing cost of running a campaign is that the parties and their candidates have to work so hard going after the voters. They cannot expect to be met halfway.

Time was when the announcement of a political rally or a debate between opposing candidates on the same platform would jam the public hall or fill the public square. No more.

Organizers of political rallies consider themselves lucky if they can pull enough interested people out of their easy chairs to half fill the hall hired for the occasion. The perennial complaint of the Canton League of Women Voters, which sponsors bipartisan meetings between candidates and voters, is that the candidates outnumber the voters 2-1 or more.

THE POLITICIANS must put money into advertising because it is the most effective way they have of getting close enough to the voter to distract his attention from whatever else he is doing.

They spend increasing amounts of money on public opinion polls because they have so little personal contact with the voters they cannot gauge for themselves what the thinking is. And the polls have built-in risks because of the size of the "no opinion" factor.

If there is a way to cut the cost of waging campaigns, it would be for the voters to share some of the expense by going at least halfway to find out what the candidates are saying and doing.

Los Angeles is selling 150 surplus peacocks. We always thought one peacock was a surplus. (If you had two or three Uncle Sam would announce support prices.) Ima Dodo wants one to hang as ornament inside auto rear window . . . Rockefeller may accept a draft for the presidency. He knows he can't get exemption as a hardship case, despite all the troubles a millionaire has these days. And where would he get off claiming he was the only support of his wife and kids? His only chance to escape might be to claim a perforated eardrum from listening to all the interviewers.

JUSTICE DOUGLAS denies Supreme Court is overworked. All those 5 to 4 decisions and long delays are due to coffee breaks . . . Jack Kennedy says, "Seventeen million Americans go to bed hungry every night." But it could be some go to bed that way through the inability to get a second helping, or because there's a night alarm on the icebox after 9 p.m. (And how many to go to bed hungry because of the wife's cooking?) . . . "Bus Drivers Hope to carry Case to Higher Courts." — headline. It would be ironical if they had arguments over transfers.

Russia has given a pension to a ballerina to keep up the morale of artists. It wants to keep Soviet dancers on their toes. House has rejected Ike's plea for 649 more men in the State Department. It says it should be able to keep world confused with no extra help . . . Insurance companies may refuse policies to drivers who are careless or unfit. (That's one way to take all but a few dozen autoists off streets.)

Tunisian Arabian stallion is at Ike's farm, but he is under additional strain trying to get it to carry his clubs . . . Brinks driver went on spree with $30,000 of funds but spent only $60. Just trying to prove Jack Webb can't clear everything up in 20 minutes work

Wrong number or wire trouble? . . . If Ingemar ever gets into the fight ring won't the first question be "Who's minding the show business?"

SAM SNEAD is as honest as they come. He would never discover he was a rules breaker in a match and "throw the contest" with no confession or explanation. That he could do so on TV and deceive millions of family fans is a shocker. He regarded it as a show and acted in "the show must go on theory." Have TV hanky-panky scandals led golfers to employ different standards on TV program? Sam's opponent in thrown match says Snead told him nothing about it. Countless TV fans were not told the truth. It's hard to dig Snead's reasoning, honest as it is. What could be wrong with a frank statement, "I unintentionally broke a rule and must disqualify myself. I will continue the match, playing my best but, of course, ineligible for the victory"? "The show must go on," but it should be as represented.

In New York it's alleged many post office clerks and carriers got jobs through paying regular employees to take Civil Service exams. It's the height of something when men wanting to get jobs from Uncle Sam start in by double crossing him . . . Jack Paar has written a book. Wonder if he walked out on any editor who had a blue pencil on him? . . . This column's hunch is that despite smooth sailing for Nixon now, there will be a moment in the GOP convention when delegates will feel the going is so rough only the Rockefeller "foundation" can save them.

Shotgun Legislation

By RAYMOND MOLEY

been growing with incredible rapidity over the past decade. It would seem a shame to halt this growth by a free-for-all federal handout.

The existing facilities are both governmental and private. Governments—federal, state, and local—are already heavily supporting medical care. Their combined outlays are $5,400,000,000.

The federal government alone is providing medical care for 30 million people.

Fifty per cent of medical research in the United States is supported by the federal government. A third of all the hospitals in the United States are operated by the government.

Private provision for health insurance is classed under three types: The Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans; health insurance by commercial companies and miscellaneous groups offering various kinds of coverage.

At the end of 1958 Blue Cross had an enrollment of 55 million. Blue Shield had 46 million. Private insurance agencies had 72 million.

Many more are covered by the independent group-practice plans. Usually these are associations of doctors. In 1957 these plans had more than eight million subscribers.

Forty-three per cent of the elderly have either Blue Cross or Blue Shield or both.

It should be noted that there still exists, despite modernistic thinking, the obligation of children to their parents. After granting all the argument for the desirability of complete independence for people of all ages, it still makes good sense and conforms to the dictates of common humanity that children who can afford it return a small part of what they have received from their parents.

AFTER ALL, under the Kennedy-Forand philosophy those children will be contributing to the support of their parents. Is it any more humiliating to receive something from one's own children than to get help from everybody's children through the tax route?

Then there are the doctors themselves, thousands of whom are contributing what they can to the help of those who need it. But the strongest argument against the shotgun approach of the Kennedy-Forand plan is not that they are growing at such a tremendous rate.

In the 10 years between 1948 and 1958 the number of people covered by some form of private health insurance grew from 61 million to 123 million.

Obviously, if the government, under the Kennedy-Forand plan, should provide coverage free, the growth of private means of insurance will to a large extent wither away. For once the door to government medical care is open, there is no closing it.

There is no way to prevent definite, endless extensions. For the very pressure on the resources of the generality of taxpayers by the costs of the plan and its inflationary consequences will create coverage from the cradle to the grave.

Reversal of Custom

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Justice Douglas Revives Desegregation Debate

It is a rare thing for a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States to discuss publicly at any time afterwards a case in the decision of which he has participated. It has always been the custom for justices to stand on what they wrote in the opinion itself no matter what criticism came later.

The address, David Lawrence therefore, that Justice William O. Douglas delivered before the Cornell Law School at Ithaca, N.Y., a few days ago has begun to attract attention, particularly because it reopens and, in a sense, supplements the text of the famous desegregation decision of May 17, 1954.

It revives debate, too, on whether the Supreme Court in that case decided a question of constitutional law or a question of psychology.

"JUDGES," said Justice Douglas, "like the cases with which they deal, are more than statistics. The electronics industry — resourceful as it is — will never produce a machine to handle these problems. They are delicate and imponderable, complex and tangled. They require at times the economist's understanding, the poet's insight, the executive's experience, the political scientist's understanding, the historian's perspective."

This view will be disputed by those who feel that the founding fathers set up a Supreme Court to decide not what the law or the Constitution ought to be but what it really is, based on written acts of Congress and written provisions in the Constitution.

This is why Judge Learned Hand, retired, America's most outstanding jurist, expressed in his famous lecture to the Harvard Law School two years ago the fear that the Supreme Court of today might become a "third legislative chamber."

But it is in relation to the desegregation decision that Justice Douglas's new comments will be widely debated. He gave to the Cornell law students this concept of the present-day court:

"There is the myth that has received great impetus since Brown vs Board of Education, 347 U.S. 483. It is that the court made an exception in those school segregation cases and picked them out as the occasion to rely on 'sociological' data, not on law or precedents."

"Yet those who work in constitutional law know that business facts, economic data, institutional practices, and social materials of ten are relevant to enlightened decisions on constitutional issues. The Brandeis brief, filed in 1908 in Muller v. Oregon, 208 U.S. 412, and containing vast citations to economic and social data bearing on the hours of work by women, is the classical example."

BUT JUSTICE DOUGLAS missed the main point of the criticism that has been made about "sociological" data. Nobody has objected to the introduction of data of any kind in a formal brief filed prior to the argument before the court.

What is objected to is the lack of an opportunity to the other side to present a rebuttal or ever to cross-examine the experts or "authorities" before they are cited for the first time in a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. The 1954 desegregation cases, moreover, involved precedents that had allowed the states from 1868 to 1954 to establish schools with "separate but equal" facilities. Indeed, contrary to a general impression, the famous case of Brown vs Board of Education of Topeka, Kan., involved a state law, passed in 1899, that permitted but did not require cities of more than 15,000 population to maintain separate school facilities for Negro and white students.

The Topeka board set up segregation only in elementary schools and operated all other public schools on a non-segregated basis. The lower court ruled that the facilities in both kinds of schools were equal and that the 14th Amendment wasn't being violated.

THE SUPREME COURT of the United States, however, based its judgment on a number of citations of a sociological nature, even though similar data were also available for use in the many cases decided in the period between 1896 and 1954 by eminent justices, including Charles Evans Hughes and Oliver Wendell Holmes. Yet the 1954 decision said:

"Whatever may have been the extent of psychological knowledge at the time of Plessy vs Ferguson, this finding is amply supported by modern authority. Any language in Plessy vs Ferguson (1896) contrary to this finding is rejected."

When does authority become "modern"? The "separate but equal" doctrine was upheld by the Supreme Court as late as 1950. The very fact that the Supreme Court did reverse decisions and precedents of long standing and base its judgment on "psychological" data is the reason why it has been severely criticized as having opened the way for a nine-man judicial autocracy to function.

If there is to be a scrapping of the written Constitution and the substitution of an unwritten constitution to be formulated out of the doctrines of poets, historians, economists and even business executives, there are many citizens who would favor a system such as prevails in Great Britain, where the Parliament, elected by the people, is the body that writes the "law of the land."

The Dreamer

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The middle-aged man is a dreamer.

To the outside eye the average middle-aged man looks about as settled as an old farm barn and as romantic as a broken umbrella.

He has a slightly seedy look of responsibility and respectability, and his face wears the vaguely harassed air of something that has been picked upon too much by time.

But inside his own head the middle-aged man is a quite different fellow.

He is a dreamer. And the dreams he dreams are every bit as wild and unrealistic as those of any adolescent boy. In his own mind's eye he is 25 years old, single and earning about $10,000 a year tax-free. In dreams nobody ever spends time worrying about paying taxes.

Pause at any office water cooler in the land and sooner or later you will hear some careworn codger give wistful voice to this classic daydream of masculine middle age: "Boy, if I was just a bachelor again and had my present income to spend on my self. Men get married too young. I'd like to have a year off from marriage—just one year."

Ask him what he'd do and he is likely to reply: "I'd do the things I didn't have the sense to do when I was young and broke. I'd roam the world. I'd go to the South Seas and become a beachcomber."

"I'd make Romeo look like the schoolboy he really was. There'd be no nonsense about going steady with the first dame looking for a steady meal ticket. I'd love them where I found them, and leave them where I loved them."

It is too bad some philanthropic foundation doesn't now and then issue grants to middle-aged men to test the truth of their dreams. Nothing would frighten them more.

For the fine fancy freedom the ordinary middle-aged man craves is the last thing, which, in fact, would give him real satisfaction.

When a man has a mortgage on his house and has made a down payment on his ulcer, it is too late for him to essay the role of a wandering Casanova with either competence or enjoyment. It is too late also for him, in most cases, to abandon happily the discipline of his daily job.

The rut the rebels against is in reality his refuge.

If he were given the chance to live out his fondly held dream, within a week or month the pitiable wretch would be clamoring to return to the chains of his old duty. Absolute freedom would make him sick.

But the middle-aged man's dream of escape from routine does him no harm. He kids only himself, and a little illusion is necessary for us all.

One of the pleasantest things about dreams is we don't have to make them come true—and find out they are really only nightmares.

Approximately 50 members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church met Tuesday night following the union services at First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Adam Rudibaugh, president, was in charge. Pledges were made for the year and world banks were collected for missions. Mrs. Loren Early led devotions. Mrs. D. H. Hepburn had the program and introduced Mrs. Edna Lehman, who gave a paper prepared from the study book, "Town and Country."

Officers will be elected at the next meeting May 10.

"THE ART OF Cake Decorating" was the topic for the program of the Home and Garden Study Club when it met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. William Kessler of Fairfield Rd. with 14 present.

Rudy Scheiderer, baker at the Hillier Foodliner, gave an interesting talk and cake demonstration. Mrs. Scheiderer was a guest.

Lunch was served by the hostess, with the Easter theme carried out.

Mrs. Richard Bowling will receive the group May 10.

ing in history and social studies in the school of education. Last week he served as a delegate from the state of California to the mock Democratic convention held at the university. He made one of the nominating speeches.

The sixth birthday of David Swartz was honored Saturday when Mr. and Mrs. Roger Swartz of the Fairfield Rd. entertained 12 of his friends. Games were the diversion and prizes were awarded.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Swartz, assisted by Mrs. George Duko of Leetonia Rd.

FUEL TANK HITS HOUSE

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A house in the Knollwood section of Beavercreek Twp. was damaged Wednesday when a wing-tip fuel tank fell from an F100F Super Sabre jet trainer taking off from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Verner J. Vocke, who was in the yard, was struck in the back and hand by pieces of metal, but did not require hospitalization. His wife, in the house at the time, was not injured.

The tank struck the front of the house and a porch. The jet was flown by Capt. Kenneth Coffey of the Wright Air Development Division at the base.

Liverpool Prisoners To Get Easter Leave

EAST LIVERPOOL — A judge of the Jewish faith has granted Easter weekend freedom to men who pledge to return to their cells Monday.

First-term Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff yesterday said he would release on Good Friday men who promised to return Monday.

"Jail is no place for anyone on Good Friday or Easter," Judge Chertoff said.

The judge ordered police to release prisoners convicted of misdemeanors for the weekend.

Judge Chertoff showed further mercy yesterday by revoking a six-month suspension of a driver's license because it was, he said, a hardship case.

The judge ordered the license of James N. McLaren, a Damascus salesman, reinstated.

McLaren's wife, who has been driving her husband's car since he was convicted of drunken driving in February, was ordered into a hospital recently for a second cancer operation. Her physician recommended the court's action.

S. Africa Parliament Recesses for Easter

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—South Africa's Parliament went home today for Easter but police raiders were as busy as ever.

The white supremacy government appeared to have checked the racial disturbances of the last three weeks without coming to grips with the basic causes of the unrest.

About 500 so-called subversives are believed in jail — more than 100 of them whites — under the government's state-of-emergency powers.

Leaders of the outlawed African National Congress and Pan Africanist Congress were arrested at the height of the trouble, but the names of others being held are being kept secret.

As Parliament recessed until next week, Paul Oliver Sauer, senior minister while Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd is recovering from bullet wounds inflicted by a white anti-nationalist, told the lawmakers:

"There can, of course, be unforeseen local disorderliness here and there, but it is not expected that such incidents, should they occur, will be of serious nature."

U.S. Scientists Exuberant Over Success of Transit 1-B

WASHINGTON (AP) — "This recent successes should put us back in the sunlight." The Transit satellite, which has future important military applications, was intended to go into a nearly circular orbit about 500 miles high and last for 50 years. Instead it fell into an orbit varying from a high point of 479 miles to a low of 233 miles from the earth, and it may fall back into the atmosphere in about 16 months.

"We're not completely satisfied," added Brig. Gen. Robert Greer, "because the orbit was not exactly the way we wanted it. But not long ago we would have been glad to get it up at all."

The 265-pound navigational satellite was rammed into orbit Wednesday morning from Cape Canaveral, Fla., by a Thor-Able-Star rocket. It may pave the way for a network of transit satellites that can give ships, submarines or airplanes accurate position fixes in any weather, day or night, anywhere in the world.

Greer is attached to the office of the assistant Air Force chief of staff for guided missiles. His exuberant reaction to Transit 1-B was matched by scientists at the Cape.

"We've been living under the shadow of the Russian Sputnik and Luniks too long," one said. "Our BODY IS DISCOVERED"

CINCINNATI (AP) — The body of Brother John Hiryok, 22, of Warren, one of two Jesuit novitiates who drowned in the Little Miami River March 27, was found Wednesday near the mouth of a creek.

Brother Hiryok and Brother Roland Weiskittel, 23, of Olmsted Falls, drowned when their boat upset. Weiskittel's body has not been found.

Bitten by Rattlesnake? In Cincinnati? Get Out

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bitten by a rattlesnake? In downtown Cincinnati?

That's the hazy story police got from Dewey Taylor, 68, found semi-conscious on a sidewalk. They took him to General Hospital.

Sure enough, doctors found Taylor suffered from a rattler bite. But it didn't happen in Cincinnati. Taylor, released after treatment, said he was bitten on the hand four days ago by a rattler he caught in the yearly snake roundup, a tourist attraction that drew about 3,000 recently to Okeene, Okla.

Taylor said he was treated at Okeene but failed to continue treatment when he returned home. He said he joins the rattler roundup every year as a sort of hobby.

Taylor also said he's decided to give up the hobby.

Air Force Vet Mistakes $1,000 Bill for $100

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Albert Salyers, 31, of Wheelersburg, showed up Tuesday to pick up the $1,000 dollar bill he gave a Scioto County grocer by mistake.

He made a $1 purchase Sunday at the U.S. 525 grocery of John Tipton with what he thought was a $100 bill. Then he headed for Newport, Ky.

After the storekeeper discovered the extra cipher, both sheriff's deputies and the FBI swung into action.

The FBI cleared the bill as neither counterfeit nor stolen. Deputies were still looking for Salyers when the worried Air Force veteran walked into Sheriff Russell Burns' office.

He said he had received the bill last month when he cashed a $2,300 draft as part of his savings from 13 years' service. He was discharged from the Air Force in February near Marysville, Calif.

Nixon Pressured to Open Campaign Before Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — New pressure built up on Vice President Richard M. Nixon today to open up with political campaigning before the Republican presidential nominating convention.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said Nixon's showing in Tuesday's Illinois primary conceivably may bring some changes in the vice president's strategy.

Running unopposed in the GOP presidential primary, Nixon collected 725,000 votes with nearly 300 precincts unreported. This approached but still fell below the 781,710 President Eisenhower got in the 1956 primary.

Possibly more significant, however, the vice president fell more than 150,000 votes short of the total rolled up by Sen. Paul Douglas, a Democratic liberal who was unopposed for renomination to the Senate.

Goldwater said this outcome could be discounted somewhat because Douglas had done what he called a good job of campaigning and no special Republican drive was put on for Nixon.

"But it suggests that maybe the vice president ought to take another look at his determination not to campaign until after the convention," Goldwater said.

Nixon's lieutenants don't agree with this assessment, of course. They have plenty of precedent for their view that how a candidate runs in an unopposed primary has little to do with his final showing in November.

Nevertheless, they could be disturbed by the failure of nearly 100,000 Republicans who voted in the Illinois GOP governor's race to take the trouble to cast a ballot for Nixon, even though he was unopposed.

2 DIE IN TRAIN CRASH

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Harold L. Imbler, 41, of Circleville, and Dorothy Pennington, 37, of Rt. 1, Kingston (Ross County) were killed Wednesday night in a car-train crash in the city. The crash occurred at the S. Washington St. crossing of the Norfolk & Western Railroad. Flasher signals which protect the crossing were operating, police said.

Imbler was thrown from the auto in the crash. The woman was pinned beneath the demolished car.

Victor Riesel
report that the FBI is probing 16
cases of criminal violations by men

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Those mobs and their muscle who made the big black headlines recently haven't been dumped on the bread lines by the exposures which shook up the nation. Apparently that was all that was shook up. Evidence that the hoods are doing business as usual in the network of unions they always controlled is in the report that the FBI is probing 16 cases of criminal violations by men

Some of these cases will bring back the headlines. The responsibility for the reflection on all labor will rest not on the reporters. It will rest on those who thought the three years of Senate probing was sufficient to frighten the boys away from all those lovely pools of liquid cash.

THE AFL-CIO has permitted its own policing department, the Ethical Practices Committee, to become so extinct it now qualified for a Smithsonian Institution showcase. There are some highly placed labor men who regret this. In Washington the other day, one of the men who helped create it told me rather sorrowfully:

"This committee was the conscience of the labor movement. We would call in our people when they transgressed. We did better than the law could do, really. We needn't expel unions. We can summon them and ask why the scandals are brewing."

"We can move more quickly and efficiently than the law. When it reaches the point that requires criminal action, it's too late to help the rank-and-file, the public and the labor movement itself." I respect the man who said this, for he wanted to be quoted directly. I won't name him for that would only complicate his jam-packed hours spent mainly in behalf of decency and the welfare of millions of working people.

THERE ARE OTHER labor men who are willing to buck official policy.

Behind the Senate scenes, they are aiding Sen. John McClellan's fight for some sort of permanent watchdog committee. The senator would like this power to be given to something called the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations. It is a section of the Senate Government Operations Committee.

Those who are backing McClellan—and they are few—point out they could expect fair play from this group. On the top committee itself are such friends of labor as Maine's Sen. Edmund Muskie, Minnesota's Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Alaska's Sen. Ernest Gruening and Washington's Sen. Henry Jackson. It is true that the Government Operations Committee, headed by McClellan, already has the power to probe any government agency. It can also probe private citizens in the course of investigations.

Thus the government operations group can decide even now to look into the secretary of labor's enforcement of the Landrum-Griffin Act. Since the act covers the conduct and finances of unions, the Government Operations Committee could subpoena labor leaders or their employees. But the Senator doesn't want it that way.

HE WOULD LIKE the entire Senate itself to vote its desire for continued probing of the mobs who have latched onto labor posts—and in the news that the new Labor Department enforcement division was deep in 523 investigations as of April 1.

which have worked their way into some unions. And it's obvious that the mobs are still there.

The Labor Department and the Justice Department have run into at least three murders of witnesses who were to appear before their task forces and federal grand juries. One such Labor Department task force is looking into the misuse of over a million dollars by one union official in the past few years.

Other cases involve the embezzlement of hundreds of thousands of dollars. The list is long. When these scandals break, the noise will be loud. Once more all unions will be condemned because they moved too slowly or not at all against the business-as-usual mobs. The Hall Syndicate

Chevy middleweight shows the big rigs how it's done!

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his torsion-spring 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule with no trouble at all." Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load!

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners like the fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. They like the idea of extra thousands of miles before trade-in!... Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

Chevy middleweight averages 200 miles of back roads a day dogging timber out of the woods and delivering it to the mill at Crossett, Arkansas.

Young Ape Prefers Human Companions

Terrible Tim Shuns Brides, Wants 'Mama'

ormous Tim at the sight of the brides-to-be. Weeping and wailing, Tim fled back home to "mama." After all, it's asking a lot of a fellow to cut the apron strings when he's just 13 months old. A gorilla couldn't do it. And that's what Terrible Tim is.

This thing all started last June when a Kansas City veterinarian, Dr. Deets Pickett, captured Tim and two females in Africa. The girls, Jeannie, now 22 months old, and Katie, 25 months, were shipped straight to the Kansas City Zoo.

Tim was a puny 5-pounder at the time, so Dr. and Mrs. Pickett took him into their home temporarily.

Tim responded to the Picketts' tender care gaining 17 pounds in 10 months.

Still, when the Picketts took Tim to the zoo last week he found himself grossly overmatched. Jeannie weighs 38 pounds now and Katie, at 45 pounds, is a muscular frump.

"We didn't realize until we got him at the zoo that he was just a baby," Zoo Director William T. A. Cully told the City Park Board Wednesday night.

Cully decided to leave Tim in the cage overnight, hoping he would adjust. But soon an attendant was on the telephone, pleading for help. Tim was crying and having one temper tantrum after another.

"I brought him home with me but he wouldn't eat," Cully said. "He just ran all around the house, leaping over furniture and squalling."

What's obvious, said Cully, is that Tim needs loving attention all of the time and no ape can handle the job. So Tim is back home with Mrs. Pickett and he is doing very nicely, thank you.

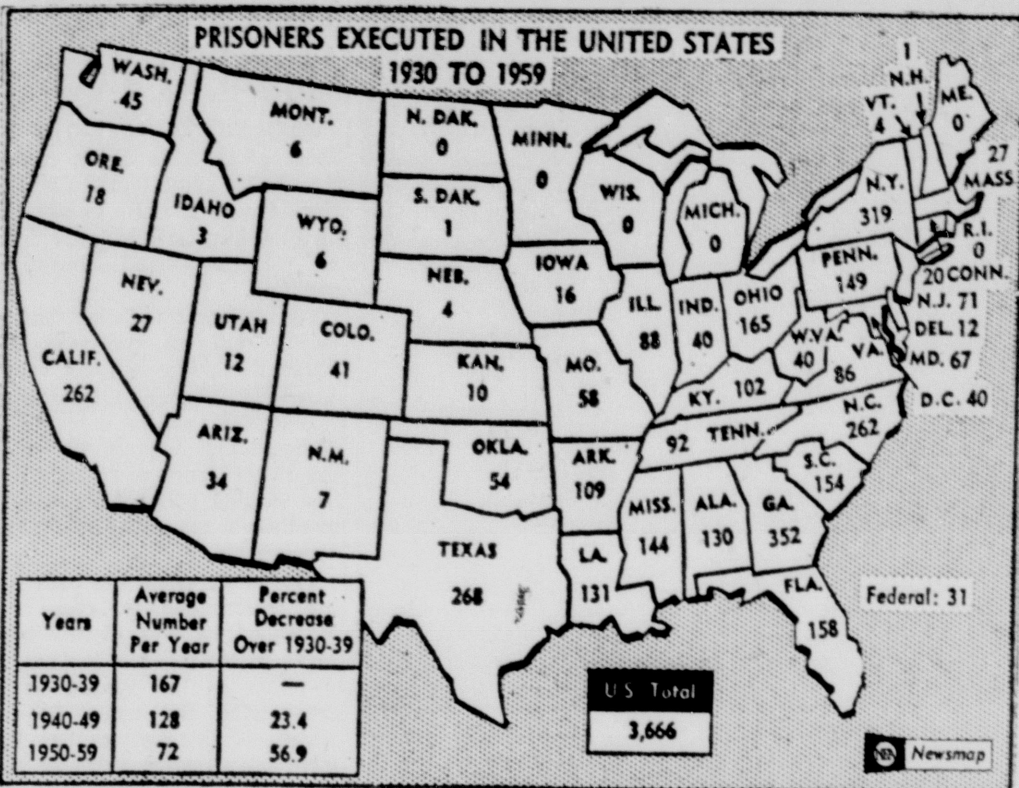

Dr. Pickett suggested to the board that the zoo provide Tim with human companions 24 hours a day until Tim pulls himself together and faces life like an ape. "I can't see paying three wet-nurses to look after that gorilla," Cully replied.

At the moment, that is where the matter stands.

SUPREME PENALTY — A total of 3,666 persons were executed in the United States in federal and state institutions during the 30 years from 1930 through 1959. Thirty-one were women. In 1959, 49 executions were carried out, one more than the record low of 48 in 1958. Forty-one were for murder and eight for rape. Prisoners' ages ranged from 18 to 58; the average was 34. Gas was used in nine executions, electrocution in 40. With a few exceptions, such as for treason, seven of the continental states do not have death penalty (including Delaware as of April 2, 1958). In South Dakota the penalty was abolished from 1930 to 1938; in Kansas from 1930 to 1934. Although a record total of 164 prisoners were awaiting execution at the close of 1959, the average number of executions is declining. Data from U.S. Bureau of Prisons.

Chessman to Appeal To Supreme Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An attack on Caryl Chessman's death sentence will be carried to the U.S. Supreme Court this week for the 16th time in 12 years. But the attorney won't be George T. Davis, accused by the convict-author of always grabbing star billing.

Chessman requested Davis, veteran San Francisco criminal lawyer, to withdraw from the case in a bitter 10-page letter made public Wednesday by the State Supreme Court. Chessman, who has survived nearly 12 years in San Quentin Prison's death row and escaped eight previous execution dates, now is scheduled to die May 2. He was condemned for kidnapping and sexually abusing two Los Angeles women in 1948.

A. L. Widin of Los Angeles, an American Civil Liberties Union counsel, said in New York he expected to petition the U.S. Supreme Court this week for review of appeal claims which California courts rejected three times in three weeks.

Mild Weather Prevails Over Most of Nation

By The Associated Press
Rain clouds hovered over broad areas in the central and northwest sections of the country today. Generally mild weather was the rule in most areas.

Gusty weather swept the extreme northwest coast of Washington state during the night. Winds reached hurricane force lashed Tatoosh Island. Winds up to nearly 60 m.p.h. pounded the Puget Sound area, uprooting trees and knocking down utility poles. No injuries were reported.

Rain fell from northern California coastal areas into eastern Washington. Showers or rain dampened sections from Oklahoma into eastern Kansas but thunderstorms abated.

Heaviest rainfall was from along central parts of the Red River in northern Texas northward into Kansas and over the northwest west half of Missouri. Sherman, Tex., was drenched with more than three inches of rain but most falls ranged from 1/4 to nearly 1 inch. Lighter amounts fell northward into the central upper Great Lakes region.

Only minor temperature changes were reported in most of the country. Readings were 10 to 20 degrees higher than Wednesday morning in Ohio and the lower Great Lakes region. They were about 10 to 20 degrees lower in sections of the central plains.

Y., has been unconscious since Saturday night when he collapsed shortly after he lost a 165-pound title fight to Stu Bartell of San Jose (Calif.) State.

Dr. Moore Hikes 40 Miles on First Day

SONOMA, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Barbara Moore, 56-year-old walker from England, ticked off 40 miles the first day of her cross-country hike, several miles less than the first-day stint of two British sergeants she says she will pass.

But the servicemen—RAF Flight Sgt. Patrick Moloney and Army Sgt. Mervyn Evans — left San Francisco a day ahead of Dr. Moore. They spent Wednesday night in West Sacramento.

Red-haired Dr. Moore stopped early Wednesday evening at Sears Point near here.

"She is a very tired woman," said her hostess, Jean Fadden. Mrs. Fadden added that her guest went right to bed.

Setting out jauntily at 9:20 a.m. Wednesday from San Francisco City Hall, Dr. Moore picked Sacramento, 93 miles away, as the goal of the first leg of her 3,032-mile hike. But the California capital was still 53 miles distant when she called it a day.

Dr. Moore eats sparingly of fruit and juices and says she expects to live "to be 200 years old if I don't have an accident."

She says she likes this one and a recent 1,028-mile jaunt in England are "to prove that what we eat can kill us or keep us young indefinitely."

The sergeants, hearing Dr. Moore's boast that "I'll pass them," smiled.

Moloney said, "We don't consider ourselves as competing with her. We wish her the very best."

All three hope to beat a 34-year-old San Francisco to New York walking record of 79 days, 10 hours.

Ohioan Completes Seven-Day Test Of Space Equipment

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A seven-day test of life-sustaining space equipment ended today with the emergence from a capsule of a man who had reused the water from his own exhaled breath and liquid body waste.

The test, aimed at developing techniques to enable men to live during space travel, took place at the Aero-Space Laboratory of the Air Force's Wright Air Development Division.

The "guinea pig" for the test was Courtney A. Metzger, 40-year-old laboratory engineer, of Springfield, Ohio, who entered a nine-foot capsule on April 7 and remained inside until today.

Within the capsule, seven different devices had been engineered to operate in the weightless, airless environment of orbital flight. The equipment was sealed inside an air-tight, but not pressurized, capsule resembling the nose cone of an Atlas Intercontinental Ballistic Missile.

Tested during the period were a closed respiratory system and odor removal system, a waste disposal system, a four-warming unit and storage system, food tubes and cleaning equipment.

According to Brig. Gen. Don Flickinger, Air Research and Development Command surgeon and assistant for bio-astronautics, "The system is believed to be the first complete one of its type ever to be tested."

During the seven-day test, flight surgeons and engineers observed Metzger through a 20 by 31-inch window. Technicians, upon whom had rested the decision to stop or continue the test, worked eight-hour shifts around the clock. In the meantime, Metzger relaxed by watching television through the window of the capsule or by reading.

His menu during the test consisted of "squeeze tubes" of liquids; semi-solids; solid in diced portion; some bite-sized solids; and an assortment of dehydrated, frozen and stable articles kept at room temperature.

The engineers of WADD who developed the equipment were Richard Bennett, who developed the urinal and water storage unit; Dr. Robert Hayes, responsible for the even, refrigerator and in-flight feeding equipment; Donald Keating, oxygen generation equipment; Lt. Alfred Hallan, emergency oxygen equipment, and Warren Hynes, survival gear and communications systems.

ed Allied rights in the Communist-surrounded city are not impaired. They retained their goal of a free, unified Germany.

On disarmament, the Western ministers agreed to consider seriously "any practical disarmament proposal" the Soviets might offer. They advanced no new plan of their own, reaffirming instead the Western ideas put forth at the deadlocked Geneva disarmament talks.

Eaton made his proposal on behalf of his own and the four other Western delegates, Britain, France, Italy and Canada. He said it was a Western attempt to get the hopelessly deadlocked conference into a discussion of a concrete disarmament measure.

Conference Stalled

The four-week-old conference has been stalled by argument over mutually unacceptable plans for a world disarmament treaty.

The cutoff and conversion of nuclear materials is part of the Western powers' plan for gradual disarmament in three stages under a control system.

Eaton's proposal elaborated on this part of the Western plan for the first time. He rejected the Soviet demand for outlawing "first use" of nuclear weapons.

bility of lunch counter desegregation.

Nestor Morales, chairman of the committee, was quoted Wednesday as saying executives of eight stores had agreed to integrate on a date to be set by the city commission. He later denied having made the statements.

A Negro minister in Savannah, Ga., reported receiving several threatening telephone calls, warning that his life is in danger because he opposes sit-downs, boycott and other integrationist tactics.

The Rev. James C. McMillan, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, said his wife received similar calls from persons who refused to identify themselves.

Elsewhere: Fifteen Negro parents started action in federal court to force integration of public schools of Clarendon County, S.C.

Two Negro girls staged a brief sit-in at a Chattanooga, Tenn., lunch counter Wednesday night, but were served standing after police arrived. No arrests were made.

In Amherst, Mass., student leaders estimated at least 300 students will picket the White House and Capitol Friday in an integration demonstration.

Two Jackson, Miss., Negro leaders complained to the State Advisory Committee of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission about alleged racial discrimination in interstate bus and train stations. John Wesley Dixon and the Rev. G. A. Haughton, both directors of the Jackson branch National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, also said in their complaint that there are no tax-supported graduate or advance professional schools for Negroes in Mississippi.

"The last act of his was when Jesus cried 'Father into Thy hands I commend My spirit.' The breaking of the legs of those crucified was customary, and when the soldiers came to Jesus and saw that He was dead already, they broke not His legs. The normal time for death was two or three days, a very slow painful death. It was said that not a bone of Him would be broken. He laid down His life of Himself, it was not taken from Him.

"The super-natural phenomena was the veil of the temple being rent from top to bottom when He died.

"For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us."

Special music for the service was a vocal duet by Milford Landwert and Mrs. Robert Stratton.

Eighty persons attended this service.

Barron Hits Report Of Unethical Acts

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Reports of unethical dealings in his use of a private airplane owned by an East Liverpool, Ohio, firm are "silly" and were circulated by members of an opposition group, Atty. Gen. W. W. Barron said Wednesday night.

Barron, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said when he found out who owned the craft, he stopped using it. He confirmed he used the plane owned by Hune, Inc. to take two political trips.

The firm was identified as a distributor of coin-operated vending machines and juke boxes. The Charleston Gazette said Wednesday that one report had linked a Hune official to the old Club 30 in Chester, which has been identified with gambling interests.

Barron said use of the plane was arranged by William E. Conklin, Chester city attorney and member of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

The Gazette said principal officers of Hune, Inc. are Alton McDaniel of Chester and his sons Ronald and Robert. Barron said the sons denied any connection with the club except to say their father may have sold some land to "some club" a long time ago.

"My only care is to find him again safe and sound as quickly as possible," he said. "I have not made a complaint to the police. I formally promise to ask that the kidnaper should not be prosecuted."

One of the kidnapers, described as lanky and dark haired, walked into the playground of the St. Cloud Country Club, picked up the boy from a sandpile, joined his confederate waiting in a Peugeot sedan and rode off.

Eric's nurse and the family chauffeur, chatting in a car nearby, were unware that anything had happened until Eric's 7-year-old brother ran up to report, "Eric has left with a man." They found a ransom note in the sandbox and immediately telephoned the parents.

The injection produced within two weeks a two-to four-fold increase in the weight of the spleen and lungs and a 50 per cent increase in liver weight.

The treated animals and another group of untreated animals were maintained on a high fat and cholesterol diet which had been demonstrated previously to produce heart attacks.

The untreated animals showed excessive liver and blood fats. The accumulation of various fats in the liver and blood was considerably lower in the injected group.

The next steps will be to carry the experiment on to determine whether spontaneous heart attacks actually are prevented in the animals and to modify the yeast extract for studies at the clinical level.

Profits Are Lousy For Sav-A-Fine Co.

LIBERTY, N. Y. (AP) — The Sav-A-Fine Co. founded by the three Katz brothers probably won't keep going if returns don't pick up.

The brothers, Arthur B. Robert, 6, and Steven, 10, look for automobiles in the village parking lot at meters with red signals.

When the youths find an overdue meter, they put a nickel in and leave a card on the automobile's windshield. The card notes that the motorist probably avoided a $1 fine and invite him to return the nickel by mail.

So far the brothers have invested between $2.50 and $3.00. Their return has been 50 cents.

"It's okay with us as long as we get our nickels," says Police Sgt. Dwight Startup.

Nurses Association Holds District Meeting

Forty members of District No. 3, Ohio State Nurses Association gathered Wednesday evening in the dining room at Salem City Hospital, with Dr. Philip Davidson of Youngstown as guest speaker.

Dr. Davidson, a chiropractor, talked on the subject, "Shake Hands with Your Feet." He showed slides to illustrate his talk.

Refreshments were served from a buffet table centered with an arrangement of roses, snapdragons and iris. Miss Marie Carey poured. Others on the committee were Miss Doris Hull, Mrs. Andrew Gluckner and Mrs. Victor Zerbis Jr.

The May 4 district meeting will be in Youngstown.

Court Turns Down Appeal by Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals today rejected a move by Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa to oust Martin F. O'Donoghue as chairman of a court-appointed board of monitors.

The Teamsters Union had appealed from an order of Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts denying a motion to remove O'Donoghue.

The court said the union's claim of conflict of interest did not require the court as a matter of law to hold O'Donoghue was disqualified to act under Judge Letts' appointment.

The union, which has been fighting O'Donoghue at every turn, contended he was disqualified to serve as chairman of the board of monitors on the ground he had represented the union in early phases of litigation to bar Hoffa from taking office as union president.

Under a compromise settlement of the suit, Hoffa was allowed to take office provisionally, but a board of monitors was appointed to supervise a union cleanup.

58 Absentee Ballots Have Been Issued

Fifty-eight civilian absentee voters ballots have been issued so far for the May 3 primaries, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, said today.

The "early" ballots have been available since April 4. The absentee ballots are for persons who will be outside Columbiana County and at least 10 miles from their home precinct on election day.

O'Hanlon commented that the demand for civilian ballots so far is not indicative of any unusually intense interest in the primaries.

Forty-two ballots have been issued under the Ohio "soldier voting law" to armed forces personnel and civilians residing temporarily outside the United States.

Reports Persist Of Clashes In Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Rumors persisted today of small clashes in the mountains of east Cuba between insurgent bands and armed peasants and troops reportedly led by Fidel Castro and his army commander.

Official sources in Havana remained silent on the rebel hunt. But Castro appeared to be making a major personal effort to track down insurgent leader Manuel Beaton, a former captain in Castro's revolutionary army who reportedly took to the mountains with perhaps 50 anti-Castro guerrillas.

A government official in Santiago, capital of Oriente Province, reported that Castro-led forces combining the Sierra Maestra in Oriente captured Beaton's second-in-command and two other members of the guerrilla band.

Maj. Rene Vallejo Ortiz, chief of the Agrarian Reform Institute in Oriente, said Castro since Monday has been directing troops and peasant militia.

Planning Council Establishes Office

The Salem District Planning Council will maintain an office at the Keener Building on S. Broadway, it was announced today by Merle K. Loucks, vice president of the Salem First Corporation.

The District Planning Council was formed May 24, 1957 under the name of the Salem Area Development Council, but changed its name last June to avoid conflict with the Salem Area Industrial Development Council (SAIDC) as organized by the Chamber of Commerce.

Elden R. Groves, president of the Planning Council, said the forum-type organization will study problems of highway development, discuss general planning, and promote the location of new industries in Salem and in the immediate five-township area surrounding Salem.

Besides Salem proper the Council extends over a 144-square mile area including Goshen, Butler, Salem, Green and Perry Townships. Other officers are Walter J. Hunston, vice president; Arthur S. Johnson, secretary and Aubrey Hayes, treasurer.

The report shows the accident involved cars driven by Clarence L. Stoffer, 52, of 765 W. State St., and Glenn R. Smith, 25, of 726 Columbia St., Leetonia. Police-men said Stoffer was pulling out of his drive when Smith passed several other cars and hit him. There were no injuries.

From Dust to Diamonds---

Enlarged photo shows diamonds synthesized from graphite by Army scientists. Largest is about 1/16 of an inch in diameter.

Production of artificial diamonds for possible use in the electronics systems of rockets and other devices has been achieved by Army Signal Corps scientists at Fort Monmouth, N.J.

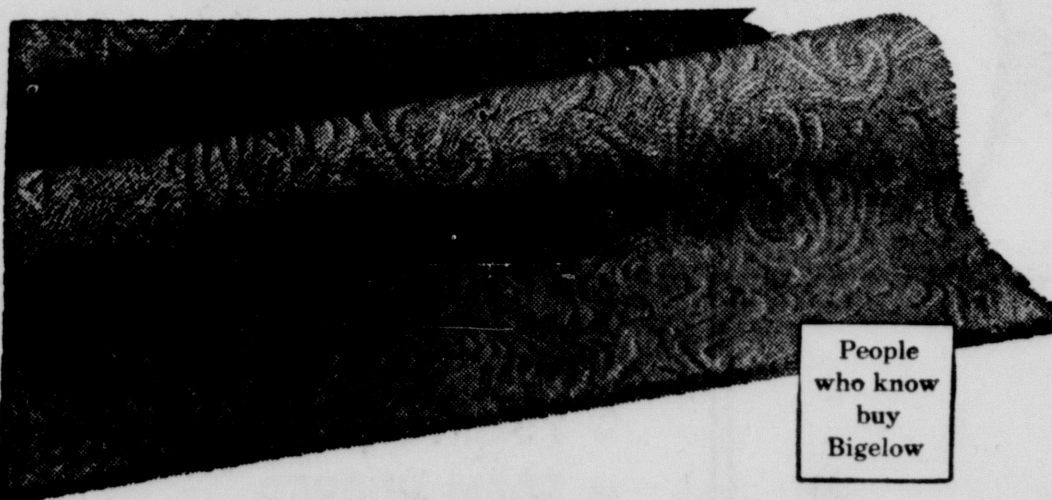

To make a synthetic diamond, a pellet of graphite is placed in a pressure chamber along with pellets of metal which react with it under heat and pressure.

There they are subjected to 1,250,000 pounds of pressure per square inch at temperatures up to 3,000 degrees. After the sample has been removed and cooled, acid is used to dissolve the metal, leaving man-made diamonds.

Technician places container of graphite in the hydraulic press.

Cubs' Hobbie Shuts Out Dodgers 4-0 With Five-Hitter

Chicago's Banks, Thomas Homer

Giants Score 6-1
Win Over Cardinals

Associated Press Sports Writer
Quite a young man, this Glen Hobbie of the Chicago Cubs. He waited until the Los Angeles Dodgers were world champs before he finally beat them.

The big (6-3) right-hander, 0-2 against the Dodgers as a rookie when they were seventh place failures in 1958, and 0-2 again last year when they won the pennant, nailed 'em but good Wednesday night. He out-pitched Larry Sherry, the relief hero of the World Series, and put away the first shutout of the infant National League season with a five-hit, 4-0 decision at Los Angeles.

That left the favored San Francisco Giants all alone in first place. They made it two out of two by whipping the St. Louis Cardinals 6-1 on the three-hit pitching of lefty Mike McCormick who didn't allow a hit until the eighth inning. They were the only two games scheduled.

While the Dodgers and Giants swap foes tonight, the eastern clubs stage the second round of openers. Milwaukee is at Philadelphia for a night game. Cincinnati played at Pittsburgh this afternoon.

Hobbie, still 10 days shy of his 24th birthday, gave up nothing but singles and shut off the Dodgers with one hit over the last six innings. His only problem was wildness. He walked six, struck out three.

Home runs by Ernie Banks and Frank Thomas got the job done for Hobbie, the Cubs' leader in victories (16) and shutouts (three) last season.

The Giants made it a quick breeze for McCormick, who duplicated Sam Jones' opening day three-hitter against the Cards. And it was Leon Wagner, an ex-Giant, who again saved the Cards from a shutout with a home run.

McCormick, 21, retired the first 17 men before reliever Ernie Broglio reached base on an error in the sixth.

Tracksters From 3 States To Vie In Mansfield Relays

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A champion Cleveland Glenville, and galaxy of cinder stars from three states will compete Friday and Saturday in the Mansfield High School Relays.

Harry Mehoek, who founded the scholastic carnival decades ago, said today 95 high schools and 895 athletes were on the entry list—with more expected. Ohio is sending 60 schools, Michigan 28 and Pennsylvania 7.

Herron's Wins Pair of Games

Enters Wellsville Tourney Semifinals

Herron Transfer of Salem moved into the semifinals of the Wellsville Invitational Basketball Tournament by chalking up two more victories Wednesday night.

The Hunter brothers, Rich and Dave, teamed up with big Dean Nicholson to provide the scoring punch which enabled the local quintet to subdue Canton Lee Stockton's Collegians, 48-42.

After winning this 9 p.m. attraction, Herron's came back at 1:30 this morning and crushed a sleepy Wellsville K & M Construction team, 82-53.

Rich Hunter was the top scorer in both games. The former Salem High and Western Reserve University standout notched 17 points against AntCon and 27 against Wellsville. He led Salem's fast break and was deadly on a short jump shot.

Nicholson, former star at Lisbon High School, tallied 14 points in the first game and came back with 18 against Wellsville. All-Olio guard Dave Hunter hooped 12 in each fray.

Woody Deitch of Salem High and Hiram College was held to five markers by Canton but worked the Wellsville hoop for 11. Playmaker Bob Theiss, another former Salem High and Western Reserve University cager, failed to register in the Canton tilt but pumped in five markers against Wellsville.

John Sturgeon and Bob Adams did not play in the first game but recorded 7 and 2 points, respectively, in the early morning game.

At 7 tonight, Herron's will tangle with Pete's Cafe of Wellsville which features Chaskey Boykin of Kent State.

600 Athletes to Vie In Ohio State Relays

600 athletes from 24 colleges, track and field clubs, eight Columbus high schools and the Marine Corps will converge Saturday, April 23, for the 18th Ohio State University Relays.

Many of the competitors are Olympics-bound for the United States and other countries, said Ohio State coach Larry Snyder, who this summer will coach U.S. Olympic tracksters.

Collegiate teams will represent Baldwin-Wallace, Bowling Green, Butler, Capital, Chicago, Cincinnati, Denison, Eastern Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Michigan State, Miami, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Ohio University, Pittsburgh, Purdue and Western Michigan. The Chicago, Detroit, Ohio and Milwaukee track clubs also are entered, along with the Marines.

COACH IS APPOINTED
CLEVELAND (AP) — Bob Kilfoyle will be head football and basketball coach at Cleveland Holy Name High School next season. His appointment was announced Wednesday night. Kilfoyle was a star quarterback at John Carroll University and was assistant coach at Cleveland Cathedral Latin and St. Ignatius.

Sports Glances

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Look for Baldwin-Wallace College to announce the hiring of a new basketball coach within the next few days — someone other than Salem's John Cabas.

B-W already has someone else in mind for the job. Athletic Director Lee Tressel says the selection board is leaning toward a man with a doctorate. This means an outsider because no one currently in the Baldwin-Wallace athletic department has a doctor's degree. Tressel confirmed that Cabas was high on the list of those being considered for the post. "John has done a fine job at Salem and I know he would do a fine job here," Tressel commented.

However, Cabas does not have a doctorate. He expects to complete work which will bring him a master's degree this summer.

SEVERAL SALEM area athletes are mulling over college offers. Others are mulling over colleges but haven't had any offers.

Salem's basketball phenom, Dave Hunter, plans to enroll at UCLA if a scholarship can be arranged. He's had numerous other offers but the entire Hunter family appears headed for the West Coast.

Baldwin-Wallace is interested in Fred Phillips, but his may be another family headed for California. Another prize catch from Salem, Dan Krichbaum, may be landed by Wooster. Jim Lehwald is interested in his father's alma mater, the University of Illinois. Ned Chappell is reported to be learning toward Maryland; Vince Horning, Pennsylvania; and Tom Dahms, Dartmouth.

Dixon Leads In Collegiate Golf Tourney

HOUSTON (AP) — Gene Dixon, the Memphis, Tenn., city champion, held a one-stroke lead today over the Houston city champion as 16 teams began the second round of the sixth annual National Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

The 22-year-old Dixon was the only player in the field of 64 to break par for the 6,801-yard, par 72 Pine Forest Country Club course in Wednesday's opening round.

The Tennessee State Amateur champ from Memphis State mixed five birdies with four bogies for a 71 that left him a stroke in front of Homero Blancas, University of Houston sophomore.

At 73 were Larry Beck, another Houston sophomore; Jacki O'Neill of Louisiana State and Gene Teter of Southern Methodist.

Houston grabbed an eight-point lead over Oklahoma State in team medal competition for the 72-hole tournament.

Houston led after 18 holes with 296 and was followed by Oklahoma State 304, Louisiana State 305, North Texas State 307, Texas A&M 308, Tulsa 312, Southern Methodist 313, New Mexico 314, Texas Tech 315, Memphis State 318, Arizona State University 320, Baylor 321, Western Illinois 323, Oklahoma 328, Texas 328 and Rice 331.

TO BUILD PRESS BOX
CLEVELAND (AP) — The City Board of Control has let a contract for construction of a football press box at Cleveland Stadium. The John F. Cleary Construction Co. of Cleveland got the award on a low bid of $81,779 and is to finish the job by opening of next football season.

Canfield Drivers Prep for Opener

Lisbon, Canfield Men to Compete

Many of the area's stock car drivers are getting their cars in shape for the Canfield Speedway opener April 23.

George Lupe of Youngstown, Joe Dowd of Lisbon, John Gaultier of Wellsville, Russ Allen of Canfield and Bill Forney of Youngstown are a few of the many who will have new cars in the lineup for the 1960 inaugural, which will feature Modified "Bombs" and Late Models in an eight race program.

Lupe, Dowd, Gaultier and Allen are making new modified "Bombs" while Forney will have a 1958 Chevrolet in action in the late model events.

Both Bill Forney and Dean Mast of Sugar Creek, the two 1959 champions, will be back in action on opening night. Forney holds the Late Model Crown while Mast is top man in the modified "Bomb" division.

The eight events on the opening card will consist of four heat races, two Australian Pursuits and two feature 25 lappers.

The following Saturday, April 30, the MARC New Cars will make their 1960 debut at Canfield. Some 35 new cars will be on hand for the New Car opener.

Forney, who took two New Car feature races at Canfield last year, along with Bob James of Cleveland, another consistent performer, will be included in the star studied lineup.

The MARC New Car champion for 1959, Nelson Stacey, will also be in the competition, along with Darrel Dieringer, Iggy Katona, Clyde Parker, Nook Walters, Roy Gemberling and a host of others.

Time trials for the opening two Saturday nights will begin at 7 with the first race at 8:30.

HIRED AS COACH

MENTOR, Ohio (AP)—Earl D. Beiderman, whose Toronto High School football team won the Ohio Valley Conference title last season with an 8-1 record, was hired Wednesday night as head football coach of Mentor High School. Beiderman, 25, is a Miami (Ohio) University graduate. He succeeds Jack Hecker who moved to the University of Toledo as an assistant coach.

125 Will Compete In Greensboro Tourney

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — The Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament, which in 20 previous stagings has developed into a vital Sam Snead benefit, opens today with a field of about 125.

The four-day, 72-hole tournament carries a purse of $17,500, of which $2,400 goes to the winner.

There's the usual heavy sprinkling of strong contenders, including Dow Finsterwald, Mike Souchak, Julius Boros, Gayr Playe Bob Goalby and Tom Nieport.

But Snead commands the attention of the gallery and the respect of the field.

Old Sam will be 48 next month but he still is regarded as the man to beat. He has won six Greenboro tournaments and has numerous seconds and thirds. He picked up almost $19,000 in prize money.

Score Allows Four Runs

Senators Score 5-4 Victory Over Tribe In 10-Inning Fray

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, with just three practice games left, meet Boston here today needing victories the rest of the way to finish their 1960 exhibition schedule on the plus side.

Today's clash with the Red Sox is the finale of a four-game Florida stand. The Tribe's last two games are against the Chicago White Sox in Mobile Saturday and in Memphis Sunday.

In a 10 - inning game here Wednesday, the Washington Senators edged the Tribe 5-4, for the Indians' 15th defeat in 28 games.

Big Walter Bond, the rookie phenomenon, ended the game by hitting into a double play with the bases loaded.

Rocky Colavito did not much better an inning earlier. Rocky, batting in the ninth with the score 4-4 and men on first and third, lifted a foul to third baseman Harmon Killebrew. Then Mike De La Hoz grounded out, ending the inning.

A double by Vic Power, triple by Bob Hale and singles by Tito Francona and Russ Nixon accounted for the two ninth-inning Cleveland runs which tied the game.

Lenny Green put the Senators ahead again in the 10th with a homer off Carl Thomas, the losing pitcher. Submarine hurler Dick Hyde, the winner, hurled scoreless ball until the Indians' rally in the ninth.

The Senators scored their first four runs off southpaw Herb Score—three of them in the first inning. Score walked six, committed a balk and gave four hits in four innings. He fanned three.

Score wasn't as fast as southpaw Dick Stigman, who blanked the Senators the next three rounds. Stigman struck out six batters.

Bob Grim hurled scoreless ball in the eighth and Thomas did the same in the ninth.

McLish Faces Pirates Today

First Appearance As Cincy Player

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Cal McLish gets his first test as a Cincinnati Redleg today.

McLish, of course, is the veteran right-handed pitcher the Reds obtained in the off season in a trade with the Cleveland Indians which sent second baseman Johnny Temple to Cleveland. The Reds also obtained second baseman Billy Martin in that swap.

McLish is scheduled to face the Pirates in Pittsburgh's home season opener.

Three other newcomers to the Cincinnati club already have passed their first tests to the satisfaction of Manager Fred Hutchinson and the rabid Cincinnati fans.

Rookie Tony Gonzalez hit a home run and a single and drove in two runs when the Reds whipped Philadelphia at Cincinnati Tuesday. Martin got one hit. Bill Henry, obtained from the Chicago Cubs for relief pitching duties, hurled one inning against the Phils and they didn't get the ball out of the infield. He struck out two.

McLish may have his work cut out for him, however. The Reds are due to face the pitching of Vernon Law and he has a 12-6 lifetime record against Cincinnati. The Reds haven't beaten him here since July 29, 1956.

Although this will be McLish's first regular season appearance as a Cincinnati player, he isn't any stranger to the Pirates' Forbes Field. He pitched for the Bucs in 1947-48.

He later went back to the minors and it wasn't until he was brought back to the majors by Cleveland that he established a record as a highly successful pitcher.

Except for the pitcher, Hutchinson planned to go with the same lineup that came from four runs behind to whip the Phils, 9-4, Tuesday.

United Wins Second Meet

Fairfield-Waterford Is 59 1/2-22 1/2 Victim

United High School rolled to its second track victory in two days as it crushed Fairfield-Waterford 59 1/2-22 1/2 Wednesday afternoon at Firestone Park in Columbiana.

United swept first places in all but one of the 10 events. Due to Fairfield-Waterford's small squad, there was no competition in the hurdles, high jump or pole vault.

Ed Campbell was Fairfield-Waterford's only winner. He captured the mile run with a time of 5:30.

United took all three places in the 880-yard run. Gary Milliken won the event in 2:27.5. Jim Stamp was second and Gary Blythe, third.

Other first place winners for United were Paul DeVillie, 100-yard dash, 10.9; Dan Jenkins, 440-yard run, 1:05; Robert Brandt, 220-yard dash, 24.5; Frank Shagnot, shot put, 40-10; Dave Bailey, discus, 110-0; and Bill Taylor, broad jump, 18-3.

United captured both relay events. The Eagle milers won in the time of 4:00.4. Their half mile relay team raced the 880 yards in 1:46.2.

NO RACING FRIDAY

Following established custom, there will be no racing at the suburban Akron track on Good Friday. The sport will be resumed on Saturday with a full nine race program. Candidates for the famed Ascot Gold Cup will be seen in action on Saturday in the Cuyahoga Falls Handicap. This $5,000 feature will be the richest race at the current season to date.

Hart Scores TKO Over Kalingo In 5th

CHICAGO (AP) — Rocky Kalingo, the Philippine welterweight champion, is going back to Los Angeles where it's warm after being cooled off in Chicago in more ways than one.

Sugar Hart of Philadelphia, seventh rated contender, scored a fifth round technical knockout over Rocky Wednesday night, spoiling his scheduled 10-round national television debut in Chicago Stadium. Hart weighed 152, Kalingo 145.

Kalingo, a 5-2 underdog, was conked by a right-left combination near the end of the fourth round. He sagged to his knees and the count reached seven before the bell ended the round.

Dr. Irving Slott of the Illinois Athletic Commission examined the 24-year-old Kalingo between rounds and ruled he was in no condition to continue. He was dazed, and a cut in scar tissue over his left eye was bleeding freely.

Junior Baseball Registration Set Friday

Boys in the 7 to 10 age group who wish to participate in the Salem Junior Baseball Program this season are requested to meet in the Memorial Building at 10 a.m. Friday for registration.

SJBPA President John Herman Jr., asks each boy to bring with him a player release form, signed by his parents or guardian. Herman also requests that parents accompany their boy to the registration, if possible.

These boys will try out for the Class H League. Those not making a team will be placed in a beginners league where they will receive special instruction and training so that they might move up to a team later this season or next year.

The Class H League is for boys at least 7 years of age who will not be 10 before September 1 of this year.

Age limits for the other leagues are: Class G, 10-12; Class F, 12-14; Class E, 14-16; Class D, 16-18; and Class C, 18-19.

Boys wishing to try out for Classes E, F and G are to report to the Memorial Building at 10 a.m. Saturday. Each boy must have a signed release. Release forms are available at Fisher's News and Scott's Sports.

Practice schedules for all leagues will be published next week.

Herman urges managers to get in touch with players they have drafted. Managers are also asked to pick up uniforms from any boy moving up from last year's team to a higher classification.

All managers and coaches will meet April 24 at 2 p.m. in the American Legion Home. Managers are urged to contact Herman for team rosters and releases.

Shank Ham Is Easter Tradition

Rose-toned ham with a golden glaze traditionally crowns many Easter family dinners. It has the delicate taste of springtime and blends appetizingly with the season's fresh asparagus, pineapple, new potatoes and strawberries.

For most active families, with church services, family visits and maybe an outing on Easter Day schedule, the most practical choice would be a fully-cooked short shank ham with relatively short heating time. Allow 1/2 pound per serving.

Of course, allow for plenty of seconds all around, also for later hearty sandwiches and casseroles.

Consider the refrigerator space you have available for leftovers. Note carefully — freezer storage of ham is not recommended. Use within a week of purchase.

To heat a fully cooked ham, place it fat side up on a rack in an open pan. Heat in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) according to the heating schedule. If a roast meat thermometer is used, heat to 130

Medical Authority Cites Objections To 'Natural Childbirth'

Too many women believe that "natural childbirth" means painless childbirth, according to Dr. Charles Richard Alsop Gilbert. Actually, this leading obstetrician says, there is no such thing as painless childbirth.

In the Family Weekly article, "The Truth About Natural Childbirth," Dr. Gilbert examines the half-truths and untruths which surround this theory of childbearing. Be sure to read it in Family Weekly, distributed with your Saturday edition of THE SALEM NEWS.

In a special Easter article, Taylor Caldwell, author of the best-selling novel, "Dear and Glorious Physician," writes an inspiring account of "The First Easter." It's the Resurrection story as it might have been told to St. Luke by the Roman centurion who stood guard over the tomb of Christ.

The same issue of Family Weekly commemorates the death of Mark Twain 50 years ago with "Mark Twain Lives on," a sampling of the humorist's wit and wisdom selected by a Mark Twain authority.

Regular Family Weekly features include a brightly decorative array of Easter recipes in the Family Weekly Cookbook, games and puzzles for the youngsters in the Junior Treasure Chest, and laughs and chuckles for everyone in Quips and Quotes.

Fresh Vegetables Appearing On Markets At Better Prices

More fresh vegetables at more popular prices seems to be the development in food markets this week, reports Ed Watkins, market information agent with the local Agricultural Extension Service.

While a few vegetables such as potatoes, sweet potatoes and possible tomatoes are rising in price, most others are showing some increase in supply and decrease in price. Head lettuce for example is much cheaper than a month ago. Celery, broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage, Bibb and leaf lettuce, carrots, onions and squash all carry economical price tags when compared with prices in midwinter. Cabbage, carrots, and dry onions are outstanding food values at this time.

Bananas still are among the leaders for fruit. Grapefruit supply is decreasing quite rapidly with some increase in price, particularly in the larger sizes. Some of the grapefruit coming to market has more russet and discolored skin than was true a few weeks ago. This does not hurt the quality of the fruit. Judge a grapefruit mostly by its freedom from soft spots and its relatively heavy weight in relation to its size. Oranges, although of excellent quality seem to be edging upward in price. This story is also true in regard to apples.

The bright spot of the fruit picture is in the canned foods. Peaches, both cling and freestone offer consumers one of the better buys this week. Pears, applesauce, cranberry sauce and fruit cocktail fill out the picture of economical fruit.

Don't sell the dairy products short this time of year. These are the "steady eddies" of the food business as far as price is concerned. Milk, cottage cheese, and many cheese products are items that should have a good share of the family food dollar.

Pork, although increasing somewhat in price is still about the most economical meat sharing this honor with poultry. Eggs are edging up in price, at least until after Easter.

The Hallowed House 'He Is Risen!', Returning Women Shout

(Editor's note: The Lord was dead. His remaining followers crouched in hiding, turning over the sorrowing events in their mind. What was the news the women brought? Could it be true? This is the fourth of five stories telling of the happenings at the house that gave Him refuge.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

A threefold blare of trumpets issued from the towers of Zion. The sound cascaded over Jerusalem like a rain of silver, signaling the arrival of daylight.

At that moment, a veiled group of women came rushing through the city's west Jaffa gate, turning southward along the broad stone avenue past the monuments of Hippicus and Mariamne toward the house of the widow of Cyprus.

Within that house, hiding from a hostile world, was a company of haggard men, spent and shorn of hope. Their Lord was dead, and they crouched there in fear and bewilderment, a tattered remnant of the Crucified.

The women moved with precipitate haste, their wide-hemmed simlahs billowing behind them. It was the first day of the week, with Passover pilgrims thronging the city, and the shrill of flutes and timbrels laced the air.

AT THE TEMPLE, majestic on the eastern crest, an unblemished yearling lamb was led to the north side of the great altar and given a drink from a golden bowl before he died. A Levite choir in snowy robes crashed their cymbals and sang.

On the western avenue, across the valley, the women turned into the quiet walled court of the widow's house, and raced across the landscaped yard to the door, their eyes wide, faces flushed, their breasts heaving.

There were at least five of them, Mary Magdalene, Salome, Joanna, Mary the mother of James, and one or more others. The Cyriot widow released the latch, and they all burst inside the central hall, calls of joy springing from their lips.

They ignored the household signs of mourning, the overturned furniture and covered windows, for none of it seemed fitting anymore. Let in the sun; set the tables aright! They knew a miracle, and thrilled to tell it to the rest.

Down the corridor they raced, routing the disciples from their dismal seclusion, summoning them to glad tidings, calling them to give ear to the glory of their Master. Behold! Hear!

"THE STONE IS taken away from the tomb," "There was a great earthquake," "He is not there, but is risen."

Their jubilation was one, their accounts many.

The downcast men listened with leaden expressions. It could not be so. They didn't believe it. They had lost, failed; Jesus had died a seditionist's death. No use to drape the disaster in absurd fantasies.

The women persisted. "We entered in and found not the body . . ." "An angel of the Lord descended from heaven and came and rolled away the stone and sat upon it . . ." "We were afraid, and bowed our faces to the earth."

They had no single version, only a single conviction. "Two men stood by in shining garments . . ." "A young man was sitting on the right side clothed in a long, white garment . . ." "His appearance was like lightning . . ."

They Could Not Believe

THE APOSTLES, disheveled, nerve-shattered men, shook their heads in skeptical disdain. They already had believed and trusted too much in vain to believe anymore. All had come to naught, to degradation and ruin.

Apparently under the strain of the past three days, the women had come back from the tomb with their heads awry with hallucinations. They had gone there to anoint the body with hyssop and rose oil, and their senses must have deserted them.

"We trembled and were amazed . . ." they said. "The keepers shook and became as dead men . . . And the angel said . . . 'why seek ye the living among the dead? . . . Go quickly and tell His disciples . . . He is risen from the dead!'"

The men dismissed the report as an idle tale, the women's ridiculous fancy. They would not be deluded again. But a thin, remote glimmer of yearning, of forlorn wishfulness, arose in two of them.

The hulkier grief-wracked Peter, and the even-minded John determined to go and inspect the sepulchre, at the risk of being recognized and arrested. Mary Magdalene followed behind them.

WHEN THE MEN returned, they were ahen faced and perturbed, almost as if they doubted their own reason, but they remained unconvinced of any imagined rising of a dead Jesus, and they spoke in curt, morose tones.

Yea, the stone seal was removed. The tomb was empty. Even the burial linens lay there, abandoned. Yet they drew no conclusions from that riddle. Baffling, yea. But they could not rebuild faith on a vacant grave slab.

Later, when Mary Magdalene came running back to the house alone, exclaiming feverishly that she had encountered the Lord himself outside the tomb, the apostles discounted that, too.

After all, she had first thought of the man she met was a garden-

"HE IS RISEN," the women said, but the disciples could not believe them.

er, and no doubt he was just that. The emotional woman of Magdala was prone to such flights. Jesus himself had cast seven devils out of her. Perhaps they had come back.

Even when two excited friends, Cleopas and Simon, returned from a four-mile trip to Emmaus, insisting they had seen Jesus, the disciples disbelieved.

It was learned that the pair did not identify as Jesus the man who walked with them and sat down with them at meat until He broke bread and vanished, or seemed to. Then they felt sure of it. Rubbish!

THE APOSTLES rejected it. They shut their eyes tightly, clamped their jaws, pressed hands to their heads and turned away, their shoulders slumped. They were defeated men, hopeless, bitter, afraid, humiliated, with belief gone.

They had called Jesus the Lord, the Anointed of God, who would banish evil and oppression and bring abundant life to all. But instead, He had died on a cross.

The very word "crucified" was anathema in the mouths of Israel. The sages said that "the curse of God rests on him who has been hanged." How could one possibly believe that such a man had risen from his degraded death?

There at the house of the widow of Cyprus, the apostles spurned the implausible vision, the impossible paradox. They were logical men. They were wary, dubious men.

There, at the house where they had sat and planned and prayed with Jesus, there where they had retreated from the storm, they reasoned with all careful logic of the world about Him who himself said the world could not receive His truth.

Neither, for a time in that upset household, could they.

Tomorrow: The Impossible Reality.

Sunken Tanker Ruled Menace to Navigation

CLEVELAND (AP)—The tanker Cleveco, which sank with 18 seamen and a million gallon oil cargo off Gordon Park on Dec. 2, 1942, must be removed from her watery grave, Army Engineers have ruled.

Col. Earl B. Butler, chief of the Buffalo District, U.S. Corps of Engineers, says the vessel has become a hazard to navigation for deep draft ships. Bids will be advertised in May for "removal, disposal or dismantling" of the Cleveco, formerly owned by Cleveland Tankers, Inc.

Value of the work is about $100,000, the Army said. The Cleveco then worth $400,000 was caught in a 60-mile gale while being towed by a tug. The tug and her 14-man crew sank first, breaking the tow lines.

Drive for Prison Books In Ohio Successful

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More than 30,000 books are pouring onto library shelves in Ohio prisons as a result of a nationwide "Books for Prisoners" campaign by the Volunteers of America.

The volunteers is a non-denominational national Christian welfare agency. About 10,000 books have been taken to the Ohio State reformatory at Mansfield, Corrections Commissioner Maury C. Koblentz said, and 11,670 have been delivered to Marion Correctional Institution. Marion will send 5,000 of these to the Women's Reformatory at Marysville.

Today the state's newest prison, the southern Ohio reformatory near Lebanon, received about 10,000 volumes.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

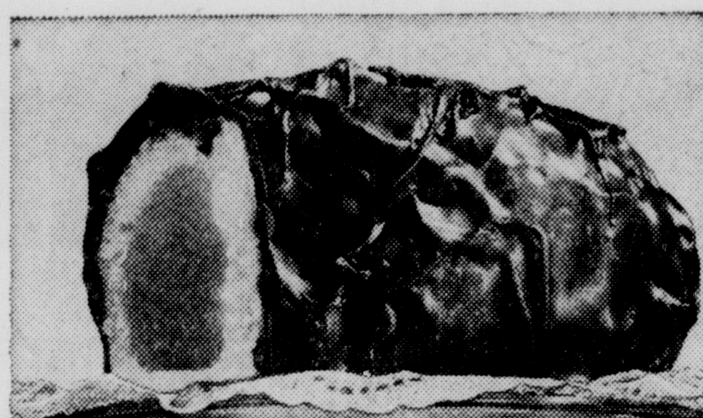

Dear Ann Landers: Why would a girl who has been brought up in a lovely home fall for a big boob with no manners or polish whatsoever?
When he shook hands with my husband you'd have thought he was pumping for water. We had a small group in for dinner and I served a beautiful buffet.
Our daughter brought home a fellow she thinks is "wonderful." When he looked at the food he asked if he could have a peanut butter and jelly sandwich and a glass of milk. I thought he was joking.
When my daughter went to the kitchen to fix it I asked if he was serious. She replied, "That's all he ever eats."
We are stunned and want to know what to do if she wants to invite him for dinner again. (He is studying to be a career diplomat!)—NO WORDS.

Domineering Mother

Dear Ann: I am fast losing all respect for my 35-year-old husband who is under his mother's thumb completely.

She's a war-horse type who has ruled her four children with an iron hand. None of them likes each other but she demands that they put up a solid front of love and harmony which is so phony it's nauseating.

She hates me because I refuse to kowtow to her. I also encourage my husband to stand up for his rights and make his own decisions. My husband can't stand the guys his two sisters married yet his mother insists they be social friends or it won't look nice to outsiders.

He still calls her "Mama." What can I do?—MAVERICK.

Dear Maverick: The pattern is set and you aren't going to alter it after 35 years. An ideal solution would be to move out of town. If you can't swing this, then take hold of the social reins and line up your free evenings with interesting friends instead of boring relatives.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TREATY STAMP — This four-cent stamp will be released May 31 in Washington, D.C. to mark the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization conference. John Maass of Philadelphia designed the SEATO emblem on stamp.
